PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF CONFEDERATE DEAD

Thousands of People Join in Exercises in Blandford Cemetery at Petersburg.

MEMORIAL ARCH UNVEILED

Erected on Main Avenue of Cemetery Hill by Ladies' Association-Address Delivered by Senator P. H.

The Times-Dispatch Bureau,

5 Bollingbrook Street,
(Phone 1485),
Petersburg, Va., June 9.
The people of Petersburg paid tribute this afternoon to the memory of Confederate soldiers by the display of flags, the universal closing of business, and the assembling in Blandford Cemetery to the number of many thousands to join in the memorial exercises held under the auspices of the Ladies' Memorial Association. Flowers and evergreens were reverently placed on the graves alike of the known and unknown dead. The noble women of the known dead. The noble women of the city, especially, were present in great numbers, and the scene was both inspiring and beautiful. Innumerable flags floated through the grounds of

The veil was drawn by Miss Annette Purdy, and the address was delivered by Senator P. H. Drewry.

Description of Arch.

The arch is of granite, facing east and west, spanning the main avenue leading to Cemetery Hill, on the slopes of which in beautifully arranged squares are the graves of many thousand Confederate heroes. Its total height is 30 feet, and its total width 40 feet. The main arch spanning the rondway is 14xIl feet; the small arches, spanning the walkways on either side, are each 5x1l feet. On the west face on a tablet in the centre of the left hase is the following interest. the left base is the following inclies consisted of prayer, singing and the memorial address by the Hev. James A. McClurc, paster of the Second Fresbyterian Church, in this city. The addresses of Schater Drewry and Mr. McClure were highly appropriate, both breathing the spirit of patriotism, and abunding in historical lessons, tersely and eloquently told.

The spirit of to-day's exercises proved that the memory of the Confederate cause and of the herrie men, who gave their Hyes in its behalf, is as warn and in the hearts of our people as ever. June 9 is a memorable day in annals of Peterbaurg, it was the day on which the militia, under the command of the gallant Colonel F. H. Archer, and the old men and boys saved the city from capture by the Federal cavalry, under command of General Kautz. Though a number of citizens were killed, wounded and captured, they had been the Nobert address of the gallant gaptane.

"Ladles' Memorial Association, Petersburg, Va."

At the top of the arch facing west, in raised letters, chiseled in granite, are words:

"Our Confederate Heroes."

Over the left smaller arch are the flugures "1861-1865," designating the years of the war; and over the right arch are the flugures, "1869-1913," designating the Years of existence of the Ladles' Memorial Association, by whom the arch was erected.

At the top of the reverse of the main arch, facing east, towards Cemetery Hill, are the words:

"Awaiting the Reveille."

The beautiful arch is the work of Burm & Campbell, of Petersburg, and the architect is Richard E. Munden. The cost of the arch was $4,200.
